NEW DATA ON CADDIS FLIES (INSECTA: TRICHOPTERA) OF THE UKRAINIAN CARPATHIANS AND ADJOINING TERRITORIES

Щенсny Б., Хвойка П. Нові відомості про волохокрильців (Insecta: Trichoptera) Українських Карпат і прилеглих територій // Наук. зап. Держ. природознавч музею. – Львів 2008. – 24. – С. 153-166.

На матеріалах 6745 дорослих особин, котрі були зібрані авторами в Українських Карпатах в 1994-2007 рр. з використанням різних методів (переважно світловими пастками та вручну), визначено 125 видів/підвидів, з яких 18 видів вказано вперше для території України і 2 – для Українських Карпат. Наведено уточнені визначення дорослих особин волохокрильців, зібраних в Українських Карпатах та Львівській області наприкінці 19 – початку 20 ст., котрі зберігаються в Національному музеї Праги.

На материалах 6745 взрослых особей, которые были собраны авторами в Украинских Карпатах в 1994-2007 гг. с использованием разных методов (преимущественно световых ловушек и вручную), определены 125 видов/подвидов, из которых 18 видов указаны впервые для территории Украины и 2 – для Украинских Карпат. Представлены уточненные определения взрослых особей ручейников, собранных в Украинских Карпатах и Львовской области в конце 19 – начале 20 века, и хранящихся в Национальном музее Праги.

Szczęsny B., Chvojka P. New data on caddis flies (Insecta: Trichoptera) of the Ukrainian Carpathians and adjoining territories // Proc. of the State Nat. Hist. Museum. – Lviv, 2008. – 24. – P. 153-166.

A total of 125 species/subspecies of caddis flies was identified in 6,745 adults collected by different methods (mainly with light traps and hand net) by the authors in the Ukrainian Carpathians in years 1994-2007. As much as 18 species are recorded for the first time for Ukraine and two from the Ukrainian Carpathians. Verified identifications of adult caddis flies collected in the Ukrainian Carpathians and the Lviv region in the end of 19th and the beginning of 20th centuries deposited in the National Museum, Praha are presented.

The most intensive researches on the caddis fly fauna in the Eastern Carpathians and adjacent area (in the present state borders of Ukraine) were carried out in second half of the 19th century and in first decade of the 20th century by Józef Dzięgielewicz, excellent specialist of the group, and his colleagues: M. Nowicki and M. Łomnicki from Lviv, A. Wierzejski from Kraków and F. Klapálek from Praha [3, 4]. After World War I nobody collected the Trichoptera in those regions and in years after World War II all the facts concerning that caddis fly fauna were based only on the materials collected by Dzięgielewicz and were published by non Ukrainian authors [1, 7, 9-11, 12, 13]. The first paper of Ukrainian authors based on original materials of caddis flies (aquatic stages only), as a component of benthic invertebrates of the Upper Tysa River and its tributaries, was published by V.S. Ivlev and V.M. Ivasik [5]. The paper of N.N. Danko [2] was based on adults.

After political changes in 1991 also collections of caddis flies housed in the State Museum of Natural History, National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine in Lviv (formerly known as Dzieduszycki's Museum) became available for foreign scientists and international cooperation could start. Thanks to initiative of the director of the Museum – prof. J.N. Czarnobaj (Tscharnobaj), some projects between scientific units of Lviv and Kraków were arranged and subsequently common expeditions of Polish and Ukrainian scientists were organized since 1994 to the west territory of Ukraine. Numerous collections of insects (caddis flies including) were gathered during those expeditions. The most caddis fly materials (adults only) are elaborated, but very few data have been published till now. The main aim of this paper is to publish new data because of compilation of the catalogue of caddis flies of Ukraine which is in the final stage.

Materials, methods, study area

The materials comprise 6,745 adults collected by the authors in the East Carpathians on territory of Ukraine in years 1994-2007.

The insects were caught with a hand net or by picking up with tweezers, also with light traps (B. Szczęsny) of two types of tubes actinic and UV.

The senior author of this publication has taken part in 15 expedition organized in years 1994-2007 to the East Carpathians as follows: 6-15.VI.1994 the Svydivets' Mts., Kuzii Nature Reserve; 10-17.VII.1995 Upper Prut river, the Czarnohora Massif, Krainia at the Svydivets' Mts.; 5-10.X.1995 the Czarnohora Massif, the Svydivets' Mts.; 17-24.VI.1996 Upper Prut river, the Svydivets' Mts., the Synevyr lake; 8-14.X.1996 the Czarnohora Massif; 12-16.VII.1998, Limnytsia river, the Gorgany Mts.; 15-20.X.2001, Limnytsia river and Bystrytsia Nadvirnians'ka river in the Gorgany Mts., Skolivskyi National Park, the East Bieszczady Mts.; 10-13.VII.2003, 18-21.VI.2004 and 26-28.X.2004, Nature Reserve "Gorgany"; 10-12.VII.2005, Hutsul'schyna National Nature Park: Rybnitsia river, Cheremosh river, Upper Prut river; 27-29.X.2005, Upper Prut, Nature Reserve "Gorgany", 23-27.VI.2006 and 23-21.X.2006 Cheremosh river, Chornyi Cheremosh river, the Polonya Skupova Mt.; 22-25.VI.2007 Cheremosh river, Chornyi Cheremosh river. All the gathered specimens (6,552 adults) are in the author's collection.

The junior author has collected the insects during the expedition organized in June 1996 to the Zakarpats'ka District in drainage area of Upper Tysa river (the Vulcanian Carpathians Region, the Gorgany Mts., the Northern Maramuresh Hollow [Marmarosh]) and to the Czarnohora Massif. All the specimens (193 adults) are deposited in the National Museum in Praha (NMP). The junior author verified also identifications of all caddis fly specimens from the Klapálek's collection deposited in the NMP originating with the Ukrainian Carpathians and the Lviv region (Table 1).

The visited mountain ranges: the East Bieszczady Mts., the Gorgany Mts., the Czarnohora Massif, the Polonya Hryniav's'ki Mts. [Hryniava] (Polonya Skupova) and the Svydivets' Mts. are drained by the following rivers and its tributaries: Dniestr (Opír, Limnytsia, Bystrytsia Nadvirnians'ka with Dzhurdzhi and Zelenytsia), Prut (Zhnets', Rybnitsia, Cheremosh with Chornyi Cheremosh) and Tysa (Shopurka, Svynnyi Potok, Tereblia, Rika).

Explanations: PL – paralectotype(s), ST – syntype(s), TL – specimen(s) from the type locality; /* authors specifications are found in square brackets; for current Ukrainian names see Table 2.

Since, the basic part of information on the caddis flies of the Ukrainian Carpathians is found in Dzięgielewicz's papers, for convenience in this publication, his Polish geographical names are used (mainly for the localities in the Dniester and Prut river-basins) (see e.g. Table 2). Other geographical names are transliterated from Ukrainian according to official Ukrainian-English transliteration system (adopted by the Ukrainian Legal Terminology Commission (Decision N 9): <http://www.rada.gov.ua/translit.htm>).

Results

A total of 125 species/subspecies was identified (B. Szczęsny – 116 taxa, P. Chvojka – 30 taxa) including 18 species for the first time recorded from Ukraine. Identifications of several species are based on single female specimens (Hydroptila vectis, Polycentropus excisus, P. schmidti and Triaenodes bicolor) and their correctness should be confirmed by males.

Records of the following species in the region are important from the biogeographical point of view:

Rhyacophila confinium – the East Carpathian endemic species known from the Rodna Mts. and the Maramuresh Mts. is confirmed in the Ukrainian Carpathians for the first time and the Czarnohora Massif is the northernmost record in the East Carpathians.

R. glareosa is new to Ukraine, the Czarnohora Massif out of the Rodna Mts. is the second location in the East Carpathians for the species.

R. torrentium was known only from the Czarnohora Massif [8] up to now; the Gorgany Mts. is new station in Ukraine.

Hydroptila ivisa caught by light traps in the Gorgany Mts. (Pryrod Zapov „Gorgany“, Zhnets' str) and at the Chornyi Cheremosh river (between the Czarnohora Massif and the Polonyny Hryniav's'ki Mts.) is the new species for the Carpathian Mts.

Hydropsyche tabacarui – the first record for the Ukrainian Carpathians (the Gorgany Mts. and the Svydivets' Mts.) confirms the distribution of the species along the whole arch of the East and the South Carpathians.

Limnephilus marmoratus – new record for the Ukrainian fauna and for the Carpathians.

Annitella lateroproducta – the new and important record from the Svydivets' Mts. is the northernmost locality of the taxon; its up to the now known distribution included the South Carpathians and the East Carpathians southerly to the Czarnohora Massif. It should be stressed, that all the specimens were collected at a shore of the Herashaska Lake only.

Chaetopteryx villosa – its new locality situated on the Czarnohora Massif at 1400 m asl is very interesting and important from the biogeographical point of view [6].

Allogamus dacicus – new record from the Czarnohora Massif is the northernmost locality of the species in the East Carpathians.

Chionophylax czarnohoricus – the new record from the Svydivets' Mts. enlarges until now known distribution of the species; the present known localities are: the Rodna Mts., the Czarnohora Massif and the Svydivets' Mts.

Oecetis notata – new record for Ukraine and for the East and South Carpathian Mts.

Twenty one recorded species (17% of total) were caught only in single specimens, seventy of them (56%) in less than 10 specimens. All of the most numerous species, i.e. those represented by at least 100 specimens (the most numerous is Ecclisopteryx dalecarlica with 1,620 specimens), were captured in vast number with light traps and all of them belong to common taxa largely distributed in Europe. Only Chaetopteryx polonica (108 specimens) is endemic for the Carpathians, but that was also easily collected in high number on snow.

As much as 296 specimens (all captured with light traps) represented by 24 taxa were collected out of the East Carpathians, i.e. at the confluence of Cheremosh and Prut rivers (the East Carpathians Foothills) and in Dniestr river (the Podole Uplands). These are taxa from the families: Hydroptilidae, Ecnomidae, Polycentropodidae, Psychomyiidae, Hydropsychidae and Leptoceridae, typical inhabitants of lowland rivers and/or stagnant waters.

The number of taxa found for every of the visited regions depends more on frequency of visiting of the place than on the total number of collected specimens. E.g. 49 taxa were identified in 2,458 specimens gathered in the Gorgany Mts., but 58 taxa in materials of 1,423 specimens from the Czarnohora Massif, 24 species of 1,175 specimens from the Pokucie and 45 species of 520 specimens from the Svydivets' Mts.
